

Local Men Leave For Hawaii

Corporals John Ray, 26, and Charles D. Woolever, 22, of Torrance, California, were recently transferred from the Second Infantry Division to the Twenty-fifth Infantry Division, which is now in the process of leaving Korea for Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

The Twenty-fifth "Tropic Lightning" Division, which has seen more combat in Korea than any other American unit, arrived on the peninsula in July, 1950, shortly after the communist invasion.

Ray, whose wife, Dorothy, lives at 20917 Margaret street, is a small-arms repairman. A former employe of the Bilt Rite Cabinet company in Lawndale, he entered the Army in March, 1953.

Woolever, whose wife, Diane, lives at 1039 West East road, is a squad leader. The son of Everett L. Woolever, 20422 South Normandie, he entered the Army in August, 1953.

Both men arrived in Korea in April of this year.

many, Italy, Spain, Holland, and France. They visited nearly every major aircraft plant.

Relatives and Longren associate totaling more than 100 were on hand to greet the couple upon their return Saturday.

Started July

The Wentworths started their European tour from New York on July 25.

Roughest part of the entire trip was the flight here from Albuquerque, New Mexico, Wentworth said, declaring.

Crossing the Atlantic is safer than crossing certain parts of the United States, Mexico, and South America, Wentworth said.

The flying pair made elaborate plans for the crossing. Their safety equipment included one-man rafts with fishing equipment, reflection mirrors, desalting kits, canned water and radar reflectors, hand-cranked emergency radio, ample warm clothing, and waterproof flying suits.

In 1951 the local couple flew the "Tatu" to South America and were forced down in the jungles of Bolivia. They were reported lost for several days but walked out to civilization unscathed.

TOT HURT: Craig Elwood, 15 months old, of 23500 Maribel avenue, Carson, was seriously injured Monday when he apparently crawled under a parked milk truck near his home and was run over as the truck started moving. The boy was taken to Harbor General Hospital.

IN THE CLINK: Thomas A. Ballard, who was wanted here for passing a phony check totaling $309.52 at Roth's market, is now doing 25 years at Huntsville, Texas, probably for burglary or robbery. "One confidence man was a bit overconfident," Det. Sgt. Percy Bennett stated.

these repairs were made. Wallpaper was left hanging, and plastered areas were left unpainted in a number of instances, it is claimed.

Homeowners also claim that fireplaces and garage floors are cracked and below standard.

"I think we should go on record that if any more of these college tracts come before us to vote against them," Councilman Albert Isen declared. "We'll keep going like this from week to week... the only way to get cooperation is to have the builder's activities in Torrance more or less hampered."

There was no immediate official response on the part of other council members.

Isen recommended an arbitration board made up of three builders. Though the Council favored this, Paravano was opposed to the idea.

New Attorney

The builder, who had been previously represented by Attorney Harry Apter, was represented Tuesday night by Ed Rosendahl. There were indications that the whole squabble would be re-hashed again.

Paravano claimed that he had spent $5000 of his personal funds to make repairs. At the time the homes were built Henry Albachton was head of the firm, Paravano stated.

Though Albachton promised to pay for some of the repairs he has not done so and the costs have been carried by himself, Paravano stated.

A $300,000 libel suit directed against one of the residents, Joseph Kolb of 16621 Patronella, is being dropped by Paravano, Kolb stated.

"Then he told me to go to the cash register and lay all the money on the counter," This he did.

Twenty policemen from Torrance, Redondo and Gardena combed the area for the man.

An emergency all-points bulletin was issued to neighboring cities to be on the look-out for a bullet-riddled 1946 gray or green sedan which headed north on Hawthorne avenue.

The hold-up was reported by 13-year-old Billy Muniz of 18420 Roslin avenue, who was at 182nd street and Hawthorne avenue when the robbery took place.
